The Royal Devon University Healthcare NHS Foundation Trust Exeter Hospital Emergency Department is a busy District General department, seeing approximately 95,000 patients per year, of which, approximately one third are children. Approximately 7,000 patients p.a. are followed up in various "in-house" clinics.

The Department has been computerised with the MSS Patient First system. This has produced improved tracking and communication with GP's and has, with the collection of coded data, provided an excellent database for audit and research.

COVID

The Government passed legislation requiring vaccination as a condition of deployment which was due to come in from 1 April 2022. However, the Secretary of State has announced (on 31 January 2022) that this is being revoked. The Government's decision is subject to Parliamentary process and will require further consultation and a vote to be passed into legislation. Therefore, full COVID-19 vaccination currently remains a condition of employment (unless an individual is medically exempt) pending the outcome of this legislative review. We will continue to ask for proof of vaccination during the recruitment process. COVID-19 vaccination remains the best way to protect yourself, your family, your colleagues and of course our patients from the virus when working in our healthcare settings.
